What is cancer-related depression?

Depression is when feelings of sadness are strong and will not go away for weeks or months. It causes other physical and emotional symptoms too. Depression affects your quality of life and can lead to thoughts of suicide.

Depression can:

- Make it harder to cope with pain and other symptoms
- Make it harder for your body to fight your cancer and infections
- Lead to other health problems

If you are thinking about suicide or harming yourself call 911 or go to your nearest emergency room right away.

What causes cancer-related depression?

This picture shows things that can cause cancer-related depression:

- News that your cancer cannot be cured
- Some chemotherapy medications or hormonal treatments
- Pain or fatigue
- Changes in your body, like losing a breast
- Side effects like hair loss, nausea or sexual problems
- Feeling isolated
- Depression or addiction before your cancer diagnosis
- Feeling a loss of what your life was like before cancer
- Learning that you have cancer or that your cancer has returned
What can I do to help my depression?

Find support

Support from family, friends and your community can make you feel better and less alone.

These tips can help you get support:

- Talk with someone you trust who is a good listener.
- Talk to someone at your place of worship. Spiritual or religious advice may help you feel better.
- Join a cancer support program to share stories with other people.
- Talk to a social worker about support programs at your cancer centre and in your community.
- Try writing in a journal or making art to work through your feelings.

Find out about support resources in your community by contacting the Canadian Cancer Society. Go to www.cancer.ca/support
WHAT CAN I DO TO HELP MY DEPRESSION?

Focus on things that make you feel better

Focus on the positive parts of your life and things you can control.

Feel grateful for the things and people that bring you joy.

Spend time with people who make you laugh.

Try to avoid negative people and things that cause you stress.

Avoid or limit alcohol as it can lower your mood. Visit Ontario Drug and Alcohol Helpline www.drugandalcoholhelpline.ca or call 1-800-565-8603

Consider quitting smoking. People who smoke during cancer treatment often say they feel guilty about it, which can make depression worse. Visit www.smokershelpline.ca for support.
WHAT CAN I DO TO HELP MY DEPRESSION?

Eat well
A balanced diet can help you feel more energetic and positive.

These tips can help you eat well:

Eat something every 3 to 4 hours. You need fuel often to keep your mind and body working at their best.

Keep healthy snacks on hand like nuts, fruit, vegetables and yogurt.

Eat foods rich in omega 3 fatty acids like, fish, flax seeds and walnuts. These foods can help improve your mood.

Limit foods that are high in fat, sugar or salt, like processed foods, desserts, sugary drinks and fast food.

Limit caffeine (coffee, tea, cola and chocolate).

Ask your health care team to refer you to a registered dietitian. A dietitian can help you find ways to help with symptoms that make eating a challenge. Visit EatRightOntario.ca or call 1-877-510-5102 to connect with a registered dietitian for free.

For more healthy eating tips read the Canadian Cancer Society’s ‘Eating well when you have cancer’ patient information booklet. Go to www.cancer.ca/publications
WHAT CAN I DO TO HELP MY DEPRESSION?

Exercise and take care of your body

Exercise is a good way to improve your mood. It makes endorphins, which are chemicals in your body that are natural pain killers and mood boosters.

Choose an activity you like that suits your health and fitness level. Start slowly with light exercise like walking, swimming or yoga.

Go at your own pace. Slowly increase the amount and difficulty of your exercise.

Be safe!

- You can exercise at any time during or after treatment.
- Always talk to your health care team about how to exercise safely.
- Stop and rest if you feel sore, stiff or out of breath.
WHAT CAN I DO TO HELP MY DEPRESSION?

Improve your sleep
Getting good sleep can help to give you more energy and feel better emotionally.

These tips can help improve your sleep:

Set a time for planning and worrying in the early evening so that you do not think about these things when you are trying to fall asleep.

If you do not fall asleep after 20 – 30 minutes, get out of bed. Only go back to bed when you feel like you may be able to fall asleep.

Do relaxing activities, like reading or listening to music, before going to bed.

Go to www.cancercare.on.ca/symptoms and see the Fatigue patient guide for more tips.
What can I do to help my depression?

Make lists of calming, enjoyable and useful activities

When you feel sad or down, get your list and choose an activity.

Include:

Things you enjoy, like going for a walk, watching your favourite TV shows, or taking a bath.

Things you need to do, like chores and appointments.

Do your activities even if you do not enjoy them as much as usual or feel up to doing them.

Try relaxation activities

These may help you relax and manage your feelings and stress.

Relaxation activities or treatments to try:

- Mindfulness Meditation training
- Massage
- Yoga
- Acupuncture
- Hypnosis
- Music or art therapy
- Deep breathing
- Guided imagery (imagining yourself in a pleasant, calm place)
WHAT CAN I DO TO HELP MY DEPRESSION?

Get counseling to help you cope

With professional counseling you can learn different ways of thinking and acting to help you cope.

Talk to your health care team about seeing a psychosocial oncology professional, like a:

- Psychiatrist
- Psychologist
- Psychotherapist
- Social worker

Ask at your cancer centre or local community hospice about groups or programs that can help you cope with feelings of depression and stress.

See page 15 for some programs you can do online.
Take prescribed medication

If your depression does not get better, or is getting worse, you may need to take medication to feel better.

Medications for depression are called anti-depressants

Most anti-depressants are meant to be taken once a day and may take up to several weeks to work fully.

It is usually best to get therapy or counselling along with taking medication.

Antidepressants are not addictive and are usually taken for at least six months.

Your oncologist, family doctor or psychiatrist will prescribe a medication that is right for you.

Antidepressants may have side effects. If you have side effects with one, your doctor may suggest switching to a different medication.

Be safe!

Talk to your health care team before taking any herbal treatments for depression, like St. John’s Wort. Natural health products may affect your other medications and treatment.
When should I talk to my health care team?

Tell your health care team right away, go to your nearest emergency room or call 911 if you are thinking about committing suicide or have tried to commit suicide.

What is symptom screening?

In Ontario, patients with cancer fill out a symptom screening tool. The screen tells your health care team about your symptoms and how you are feeling. The tool is called the Edmonton Symptom Assessment System (ESAS).

Doing your symptom screening helps you and your health care team to manage your symptoms.
Use the boxes below to help your health care team understand your symptom.
